Game modes The new FUT Al-Kharabah mode is a multi-season single-player mode where you lead Al-Kharabah in the battle for the Saudi Arabian King's Cup. With five years of simulation, play through the setup of the club, its on- and off-the-field challenges, season 1 and season 2 of the Saudi Arabian Super League (SASL). At the end of the second season, the player then faces relegation or promotion to the highest tier in the Saudi Arabian Professional League. Al-Kharabah is still being mapped out internally, however the game will feature career and player progression and a robust customisation offering for the player to control the destiny of their club. A behind-the-scenes video of FIFA 22 was shown at EA Play today, highlighting the work that's been put into this game mode.

FIFA Ultimate Team FIFA Ultimate Team continues to grow. We've built the Ultimate Team to offer more flexibility with trades, more accurate card values, the ability to make trades on your phone, more FUT Championship bets, the new global Market and more.

User Interface/ Design FIFA 22 will feature a new matchmaking system (one of the bigger features of the game), introduced to the FIFA UI, which will allow players to host games directly in the pause menu. It allows the players to be able to take charge of their own matches without using the menus. We've also made massive changes to the in-game performance, load times, visuals and menu. FIFA 20 marked a big step for FIFA in terms of real-time career mode and Ultimate Team. It's a big deal for us to come back to the series with our latest console and PC iteration. The first change I want to point out is the one that has been the biggest departure for the franchise in terms of making improvements to matchmaking. I think that the biggest departure for the franchise in this game has been that we've done away with the need to have a full roster of players in every mode. Most modes don't require an entire team on the field at once. Instead, we've allowed players to opt out of matches if they don't feel like they have a complete team of players available. We're making a few other major changes in Ultimate
